Strategic Category Priorities

High-Value Segments

Focus on premium beauty, ethnic wear, and smart kitchen gadgets with higher margins

Rapid-Growth Areas

Prioritize emerging brands, creator collaborations, and trending products for virality

Stable Foundation

Maintain strong inventory in core categories like casual footwear, basic apparel, and essentials

Category managers should balance investment between established performers and emerging opportunities. The Fashion and Beauty categories represent the highest GMV potential, while Kids & Baby offers strong repeat purchase rates.

Next Steps for Category Strategists

1

Audit Current Inventory

Review SKU coverage across all sub-categories and identify gaps in high-demand segments

2

Engage Top Sellers

Recruit premium brands and high-performing sellers in underrepresented sub-categories

3

Optimize Discovery

Ensure trending products surface in Discovery sections with compelling imagery and pricing

4

Monitor Performance

Track category GMV, conversion rates, and basket size weekly to identify optimization opportunities

Key Insight: The Discovery engine drives 35% of marketplace GMV. Prioritize product curation and algorithmic optimization to maximize browse-to-purchase conversion.
